I just brought home a new puppy, and his first day waking up, he had green stuff in the corners of his eyes. I wet a cotton ball with "Anion water" and washed his face. Within two days of doing this, his eyes were completely clear, and haven't been green since. Also, when I brought him home from his first visit to the groomer, he slept fitfully and rubbed at his ear all night long. In the morning, I saw that there was a little infected spot on one of the corners of his ear-fold. I dabbed at it with the wet cotton ball, again with "Anion water", and the spot disappeared immediately. I couldn't find it when I went to look for it again.

**To make Anion water, simply put a green strip in water and shake it vigorously. It can be used in a spray bottle for countless uses....from counter-tops to wound cleaning.

My dog and I go for walks every single morning about 45 minutes. At the end of the walk he is dragging & we have to walk up a pretty good hill. The morning after I put the negative ion strip on his collar he RAN up the hill... amazing! Thanks for the energy.

The other day was 4th of July and usually my dogs are not really feeling happy on this day of the year. So before all the excitement of the humans in the neighbourhood got going, I put two Anion strips on my dog's collar and YES! for the first time in many 4th of July nights, the sound of the explosion of fireworks did not bother my dogs. They were just as relaxed as could be on their doggie beds the whole night. Usually they would be trying to get under the wash or dryer and shaking all over. Thank you Winalite for making a product that works for all living creatures.

I came to give a Winalite presentation, and the family dog was a very hyper, yappy, bouncy little guy. I put a panty liner under his collar, and he very quickly settled down and went to sleep. The owner was amazed; she had never seen her dog so calm with strangers in the house. We wondered aloud whether we should experiment by taking the pad off...but all agreed we should wait till after the meeting. We did, and upon removing the pad, the dog returned to hyper state. It was a very telling experience.

My cat caught a lizard the other day, and left it for dead. I learned something I didn't know...that cat saliva will kill a lizard. I put the poor little guy in a yoghurt container with an Anion strip, and left him there. Four hours later, he walked away.

My friends have a Jack Russell puppy they aptly named "Turbo!" He is never still. They asked me to take him back to his house in the back seat of my car, about a 30 minute drive. I put him back there with my 7-yr-old, with instructions to keep him back there, not up around me driving. THAT didn't work! So I pulled over and got a panty liner out of my trunk, and tucked it into his collar. By the time I got back into the driver's seat, he was curled up beside the little girl's leg and resting peacefully. We were both amazed! He remained quiet for the remainder of the drive, even though I had to make several stops on the way.
